Advance Patrols On Luzon Are Now Less Than 85 Miles From Capital

JAP RESISTANCE MAY DEVELOP SOON

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS ON LUZON, Jan. 15.—American infantrymen of Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth Army, with the railway junction of Bayambang in their possession, were forging ahead to Tarlac Province today and a possible showdown fight with the hitherto absent Japanese army.

Advance patrols already have entered the province, whose northern border lies only about 85 miles north of Manila, and the Japanese must make a stand in the province if they hope to halt the Americans short of the Philippines capital city.

Japanese imperial headquarters cautiously admitted today that American forces were "gradually closing in on Japanese positions on both sides of the Pasigian plain," stretching southward from the Lingayen Gulf. According to official reports from MacArthur's headquarters, American forces virtually control the Pasigian plain and province of the same name.

PA NEWC Observes

One motorist suggests to Pa Newc that when traffic cops are stationed at special corners at night, as was the case at Highland and Lincoln avenues last night, it would be a good idea to place a red lantern on the ground to warn motorists, as the officer was difficult to see as motorists approached from some directions.

Weather conditions over the week-end caused a considerable thaw of some of the heavy snowfall that covers the ground. Pa Newc is told that the ground was not frozen to any great extent when the first snow came, and that much of the water will sink into the ground, rather than run off rapidly.

Most of the motorists have decided that travel conditions have improved sufficiently to remove chains from their autos. Chains were used for a period of four or five weeks on most cars, the longest period in many years that such a continuous traffic need existed here.

If you happen to be one of the few who are as yet unconvinced that this winter is no worse than any other we've been having, you should have hitch-hiked a ride downtown this morning with the North Hill man who was explaining that he had driven his car for nine years without chains but this winter was too much for him. He had chains on.

Pa Newc was informed by several persons today that birds were heard around the city, chirping in a very spring-like manner over the week-end, probably because of the milder weather. Another informant said they were bluejays.

Time Has Arrived For Greatest Effect Of Eastern Attack

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The fighting in Europe, both from the east and west, has so closed in on Hitler's inner fortress that we must at least at times analyze European fighting as one great encircling front, that is, if we are to obtain a correct strategic picture of what we call the "war in the west."

We all remember that while the Soviet fighting in the east was the only front in Europe, Moscow and all of the Russians, in general, called on the allies to establish at once a second front in western Europe.

As long as the red eastern front was the only place of combat, Germany was able to mass all her armed forces at will to meet the Russian assault. But as soon as the western European front could be established, Nazi defense elements would have to be divided to meet attacks from both sides—that is, (Continued On Page Two)

See Possibility President May Visit War Front

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Possibility that President Roosevelt, as U. S. commander-in-chief, may visit the western front, was raised today with announcement that presidential adviser Harry Hopkins was to arrive in London, followed by Presidential Secretary Stephen Early.

Early was expected to visit London prior to assuming his new duties in a liaison post with supreme allied headquarters, London sources viewed this expected visit as a strong indication that the American president would visit U. S. troops either during or after the scheduled Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin "big three" meeting, details of which still were shrouded in secrecy.

Important preparatory moves essential to the forthcoming meeting between the president, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Premier Joseph Stalin have been the subject of personal discussions between Hopkins, Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and others involved, according to London diplomatic circles.

Rejects Undergo New Examination

Approximately 800 4-F's Take New Examination In New York Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Approximately 800 4-Fs went to the army induction center at Grand Central Palace today to undergo searching physical re-examinations which may place many of them in uniform.

The first 4-Fs returned for medical examination since selective service tightened draft regulations and lowered physical requirements, they were expected to be followed by thousands more in the New York area and throughout the nation.

The men called back today were in the 18 to 30 age group. All of them passed their pre-induction physicals in previous calls but were rejected at the army induction center.

The re-examinations today were conducted under the supervision of war department medical inspectors who sought to discover if present army standards are too rigid.

Air Force Officers Advance Explanation For Lack Of Jap Activity

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE FIFTH AIR FORCE ON LUZON, Jan. 15.—At least one explanation of the complete lack of Japanese reaction to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's drive down the Lingayen plains was provided today by officers of the Fifth Air Force.

On the basis of all the latest reports, these officers assert the Nips on beleaguered southern Luzon are either "entirely out of all types of gasoline or are so dangerously low they are afraid to expend what fuel they have in the initial phases of this campaign."

They base their analysis of the enemy's critical shortage on the following facts:
Nearly 50 Jap airplanes have been destroyed on the ground at Clark, Nichols, Nielson and Grace Park airbases on Luzon since the American landing last Tuesday—yet these same airplanes would apparently be completely serviceable had they been refueled.

Completion Of North Burma Ledo Road Announced

U. S. HEADQUARTERS, North Burma, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Completion of the Ledo road across North Burma—the long-awaiting supply line from India to China—was announced officially today at headquarters of Lt. Gen. Dan I. Sultan, commander of the Burma-India theater.

The announcement was made as the first motor convoy arrived at Myitkina, principal city of North Burma, located on the Irrawaddy river, and last major stop in the Burma side of the Chinese border. Loaded with supplies from India bases, the convoy is bound for Kunming.

The Ledo road, which winds over mountains and through jungles, was built by American and Chinese troops, directed by American engineers.

Shipment of supplies over the newly completed route will be the first time China has been supplied by motor transport since the Burma road was closed by Japanese conquest.

Claim 500 Nazi Air Officers Are Given Sentences

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Daily Telegraph today printed a Stockholm dispatch saying that an estimated 500 Nazi air officers, virtually all of whom were sentenced to death, have been tried during the past two months in a special Luftwaffe court presided over by Reichsmarshal Herman Goerring.

The dispatch said they were tried on charges of "cowardice, lack of initiative and a deficiency of the true national socialist spirit" during the Allied invasion of France and Belgium.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Japanese Domei agency broadcast a report today that a fleet of more than 200 U. S. carrier-borne planes had attacked air fields and communications on the island of Formosa in a four and one-half hour raid.

The Domei report admitted that "some damage was caused to our air fields and facilities" and added the claim that five of the Yank airmen were shot down.

The broadcast, recorded by the FCC, said that some 30 Japanese civilians were hit by the American aircraft, which made the attack around 8:30 a. m. (7:30 p. m. Sunday EDT). The assault lasted until 1 p. m., Tokyo said.

Best Jap Pilots Are Being Used To Battle B-29s

By PHILIP G. REED

B-29 BASE SAIPAN, Jan. 15.—(Via Navy Radio)—A battle-broken Superfortress named "Lassie Come Home" came home for the last time today, riddled by bullets, torn by cannon fire, flying on only two of her four engines and fit only for the scrap heap.

The veteran Superfort was only one of a number of the big planes that ran into intense fighter opposition over Nagoya in yesterday's raid on the Jap aircraft production center.

Encountering six-tenths to tenths cloud cover after a clear trip on the entire 1,500 mile route from their base, the B-29s attacked the target with precision instruments and results were unobscured.

President Guesses War In Europe To Be Over By July

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President Roosevelt was found today to be the first violator of his own edict to government officials barring them from making speculative statements on an early end of the war.

For the President, in his annual budget report to Congress, "guessed" that the war in Europe will be over by July 1, 1945—the date when the new budget becomes effective.

Further, the head of every administrative agency in Washington knows of the President's assumption, since the estimated appropriations allotted to each agency in the budget message was based upon the premise that Germany will be defeated by July 1.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, stated in his message, "I shall not now make any prediction concerning the length of the war."

Faith In MacArthur Shown By Filipinos

Demonstration Of Almost Religious Faith Seen On Visit To Guerilla Headquarters

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS ON LUZON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's visit Sunday to a Philippine guerrilla headquarters gave rise to a demonstration of the almost religious faith the Filipinos have in the "hero of Bataan."

To the Filipinos, MacArthur personifies the benevolent, protective United States in which they have never lost faith. As a crowd gathered at the headquarters and three young girls presented the five-star general with leis made of fragrant flowers, a Filipino woman partly expressed the feeling which her people have for MacArthur.

Addressing the general with an eloquence which is natural to these people, she said:
"My husband was killed on Bataan and I've mourned three years, sometimes feeling that his death meant nothing. But we knew you promised to return, sir, and now that I've seen you with my own eyes, I know my husband died not in vain, but so that my countrymen could live in freedom."

Yank Battalion Of Seventh Army Being Rescued

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH ARMY NEAR HATTEN, Jan. 15.—Seventh Army units held the southwestern portion of Hatten today after tank-paced infantry units drove to the relief of a Yank battalion trapped for three days within the town.

Tank-escorted half-tracks evacuated wounded from the Hatten pocket, which U. S. fighter-bombers had supplied with medical supplies and ammunition despite attacks by German jet-propelled planes.

At the same time, nine American doughboys, told how in another town taken by the Germans they lived for three days in the attic of a house used by the enemy as field headquarters—until a Nazi's appetite for onions led him to their hiding place.

U. S. Bombers Renew Blasts Upon Germany

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Waves of strongly escorted U. S. Eighth Air Force bombers were over Germany again today, renewing their shattering Sunday blast against enemy communications and industry. Air Force headquarters announced this afternoon.

Earlier the Frankfurt radio broadcast a warning that Allied planes were over the Reich.
The air attack against the Nazis continued almost without a pause during the night and early today a flight of 1,100 RAF planes blasted an oil refinery at Merseburg and a supply depot at Dornum and then swept inland for an attack on Berlin.

Allied headquarters revealed today that 4,300 bombers and fighters, exclusive of those from the bombing command, took part in the great air smash against Germany yesterday in which the Luftwaffe put up 750 interceptors.

The allies destroyed 243 of them, including eight on the ground. The U. S. lost 19 heavy bombers and one medium bomber along with 12 fighters.

With an estimated eighty tons of waste paper in sight, the collection made Saturday in New Castle and adjoining townships looks to be the second highest total collected since the first time it was tried here.

Unfortunately there were not quite enough trucks out Saturday to handle the unusual load of paper and although every truck did yeoman service, and although some trucks went out again Sunday afternoon collecting paper, there are still some homes where the paper was not collected.

Get It Tuesday
Arrangements were made today to have residents whose paper was not collected to call 879, the Greater New Castle Association, this afternoon and Tuesday morning if their paper was not collected. The GNCA staff will take the name and address.

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Jan. 15.—Allied efforts to eliminate the vast, shrunken German bulge in Belgium met with a slight setback today when one of three American columns converging on the pivotal town of Houffalize was forced to withdraw under heavy enemy pressure.

By THURSTON MACAULEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The German army rolled out of the Ardennes salient toward the temporary safety of the Siegfried line in a growing tide today as the American First and Third armies closed the Nazi escape gap to less than three and one-half miles.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed that the U. S. First Army was encountering mounting opposition on their front between Malmedy and Stavelot where the Germans presumably are fighting a desperate delaying action.

While the First and Third armies hourly drew nearer a strategic juncture, other columns under the command of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton smashed their way northward where they effected a dramatic junction with British paratroop forces at the Ourthe River and isolated all of the Germans still left to the west of the stream.

Meanwhile mopping up operations were revealed by Allied headquarters to be continuing west of the high—(Continued On Page Two)

Wounds Two Women, Commits Suicide

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—(INS)—William G. Strange, 56, of Morrisdale, took his own life today after wounding a pair of sisters both of whom, police said, had squandered his efforts at marriage.

The women, May, 21, and Virginia Dullen, 19, also of Morrisdale, were wounded by shots from a .33 caliber revolver, authorities reported. The sisters were taken to the State Hospital at Philipsburg, where they were reported in good condition.

One of the girls had been shot once, the other twice, police said. Investigators reported that after wounding the sisters, Strange went to his home and committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun.

Lack Of Chains Hurts Delivery Of Rural Mail

Rural Carriers Are Unable To Secure Vitrally Needed Chains; Ask Public To Aid Them

Delivery of mail in the rural districts faces another snag, in spite of the fact that most of the roads have been opened so that traffic can get through. Rural carriers are finding that their chains are just about gone and are unable to replace them. The local market having been sold out long ago.

It is possible, Postmaster William Hanna believes, that some folks who once had automobiles and who sold them or junked them might have some chains lying about which the rural carriers would be glad to buy. Or if they don't have the complete chains, anyone who happens to have any six-inch cross chains will find a ready market for them at the post office. The carriers will pay retail prices for these articles.

At the loading tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Red Cross Canteen service served the workers sandwiches, hot coffee and milk. Seventeen enemy tanks, three self-propelled guns and three other armored vehicles were destroyed in the Hatten-Rittershoffen area as Yank assault troops slugged at the town's defenders.

Setting fire to houses as American forces forced them farther into the two towns, Nazi defense units gave ground inch by inch in the face of terrific pressure. A German counter-attack with flame-throwing tanks was repulsed at Rittershoffen, where the Nazi defense is centered around a cross-roads church.

Between 90 and 100 tanks have been lost by the enemy on the eastern sector of the Seventh Army front since the beginning of the Nazi offensive December 16, according to official estimates. The Nazis also suffered heavy infantry losses.

Pvt. Emanuel Fell Killed In Belgium

Meets Death While Fighting With Heroic 101st Airborne Division, Father Learns

Pvt. Emanuel Fell, who saw three major actions with the heroic 101st Airborne division, was killed in action at Bastogne December 21, 1944, a telegram from the war department has informed his father, Herman Fell of 428 County Line street.

Pvt. Fell was born in New Castle April 29, 1921, and graduated from senior high school. He had been in service since September 1943, and went overseas last year. His outfit took part in the invasion of Normandy on D-Day, and also landed in Holland in September, where they gave a heroic account of themselves. They held the presidential citation for their gallant work.

Besides his father, he is survived by a brother, Cpl. Sidney Fell, serving with the U. S. Marine Corps in the Southwest Pacific, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Maieron of 426 Garfield avenue.

way joining Bertogne and La Roche. British and American forces fighting at the rapidly diminishing tip of the enemy salient slogged their way through four feet of snow in pursuit of the withdrawing Nazis.

Although the Germans seemed to be making a concerted retreat to get out of the salient, there were everywhere indications that their retirement was orderly, even though swift.

Eisenhower's headquarters also confirmed earlier reports of the capture of Henimont on the northern flank of the salient by the U. S. First Army, Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' forces also cleared the town of Thirimont of the enemy.

Third Army Gains

The Third Army continued its drive northwest of Bastogne where the Yanks encountered only moderate resistance after gains of almost five miles.

In the dash which brought them into a juncture with British forces, Gen. Patton's men captured Givroulle and Bertogne and drove two miles farther to reach the Ourthe River. Other columns moved to the edge of Compogne and entered the town of Noville which is east of Bastogne.

Another advance of a mile was made beyond the town of Margaret while substantial gains were chalked up farther east along the high ground to the southwest of Wiltz.

The Allied communiques also revealed that the Third Army had seized the town of Tettingen, southeast of Remich and some two and a half miles inside the Reich borders. The capture of Tettingen is significant in that it is the first German town to be retaken since the beginning of the ill-fated Nazi thrust into Belgium and Luxembourg.

Near the southern end of the western front the U. S. Seventh Army cleared the enemy from a part of the town of Hatten and relieved an American garrison which had been encircled by the Germans.

At last reports a fierce tank battle was in progress in the vicinity of Rottershoffen, which is in Nazi hands.

In the rugged terrain which marks the lower Vosges salient, Allied forces beat down stubborn resistance by the Wehrmacht to gain up to 1,000 yards.

Fighting continues to rage along the Maginot line in upper Alsace where Allied forces made headway against increasing enemy resistance.

ing that Taichu, Shoka, Takao and other communities on Formosa which were hit in the raids of yesterday, again were bombed and strafed.

Japan Moving Industry

Meanwhile Japan was reported to be decentralizing all of her important war installations and moving many underground following the double blow by American B-29 Superfortresses yesterday against aircraft plants at Nagoya and installations on Formosa.

Latest reports from the War department said Marianas-based planes struck Nagoya on the principal Japanese island of Honshu with unobserved results while B-29's from China blasted Formosa with "good" results.

Not one of the two forces of Superfortresses—estimated at 110 planes by the Japanese—was lost to enemy action in the twin attacks which were carried out in daylight Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Japanese radio, admitting that Yank bombers had caused "slight damage" to their targets, declared that the Nipponese homeland had become part of the front lines.

"Everyone feels today that our homeland has become a battlefield as the result of enemy air attacks," the enemy broadcast said, adding that "all important war installations are now going underground or to the country."

Other Drives Reported

Berlin also reported "secondary operations" launched by the Russians from the Pulawy and Magnuszew bridgeheads between Warsaw and Sandomierz. These were in support of the main Baranov offensive, Berlin declared.

Soviet drives south of Warsaw and on the Narew river north of the Polish capital were also reported.

Soviet tanks, mobile guns and infantry were reported moving from the Vistula bridgehead breach in the German defenses within 70 miles of the border of Silesia, second only to the Ruhr in the Reich's economy.

The drive swept on toward the Oder River, guarding the route to the Reich.

TIME HAS ARRIVED FOR GREATEST EFFECT OF EASTERN ATTACK

from the east and from the west. That, in itself, would tremendously cut down the strength Germany could bring in opposing the Soviet assault from the east.

Condition In Reverse

Now the same condition exists in reverse. The allied assault against western Europe was eminently successful until the Nazi counter-offensive was mounted which threw a great bulge back into our front in Belgium. The allies have, therefore, reached the time they, in turn, need a great offensive from the east.

It has now been approximately five months since the last great offensive launched by the Russian bear in the east slowed to a stop. During that time, it is probable that German divisions were shifted from the east to give Von Rundstedt the necessary strength for his major offensive action.

However, within that five months it would seem that Marshal Stalin had had more than ample time to regroup his armies and to re-establish his supply systems, including the all-important forward bases.

It is asserted that Soviet troops have previously established bridgeheads across the Vistula river to the south of Warsaw, and that the spearhead of a red advance from those bridgeheads would be pointed straight at Germany's industrial Silesian area. Furthermore, if the Russian divisions have crossed the Vistula, Germany has no more big natural defense systems in front of Silesia.

If a great Soviet assault can be mounted that will drive into Silesia nothing could be of greater assistance to the allied fighting in western Europe, and that assistance is needed now.

JAPANESE MAY BE SHORT OF GAS ON LUZON ISLAND

not been flying any offensive missions against our Lingayen positions.

No Gas Trucks Seen

Significantly enough no gasoline or servicing trucks have been seen on any of the fields so far hit. Again, one of the most important items in the officers' conclusions is the fact that every type of vessel hit in recent weeks, northbound from Borneo's great Balikpapan oil and gas refineries, has been heavily deck-loaded with what was apparently aviation fuel.

The most convincing indication of the enemy's shortage of gasoline, however, is a report from four reconnaissance pilots during the last four days, telling of Japanese tanks being towed northward toward the Calumpit area from Manila by lighter mechanized units at a time when the Japs' defense of the Philippines' capital city depended on the Tomoviki Yamashita's ability to throw defensive armor into the battle immediately.

These air force officers believe that the over-optimistic Japs on Luzon have been caught with their aviation gasoline pants down and suggest that a similar situation might be found when the Jap homeland begins to be hit in strength.

over the vicious expert attacks, said: "Those weren't school boys. They were hot fighters."

Still not a single B-29 was lost over Japan and the men I talked to in one element alone, accounted for thirteen Jap planes with nine cars, more probably downed and ten damaged.

Bombardier Second Lieut. H. F. McCullough, Dallas, Tex., got two and one probable after all his ammunition was gone. McCullough said, Flight Officer Nelson Harmon, Easton, Pa., bombardier in an adjacent plane, saving McCullough's ship during a series of subsequent attacks.

He exploded three or four Japs right in our faces as they were coming in," said McCullough. "His shooting was marvelous and he sure saved our necks."

Capt. J. R. Callihan, Macomb, Ill., counted twenty Japs diving at his plane. "They went above us, below us, and through us," Callihan declared.

A claim by the Jap communiques in that at least 14 landing barges were sunk or damaged with "about 1,000 enemy troops either killed or wounded" off San Fabian was entirely unsubstantiated.

Widen Beachhead To 45 Miles

Other units of General MacArthur's Army of Liberation continued to chalk up gains as the Lingayen Gulf beachhead was widened to 45 miles while infantrymen on the western flank in the Aguilar sector have occupied Mangataram, eight miles farther inland from Aguilar, which is some 95 miles from Manila.

Sixth Army forces operating in the center of Manila corridor are approaching the village of Catabalan, five miles southeast of Santa Barbara. General MacArthur announced.

American air might continued to pound Japanese communications and supply lines of Luzon and today's communiques announced that a total of 26 locomotives, 300 freight cars, over 400 motor vehicles, 11 tanks and armored vehicles had been destroyed. #### ROGERS-OLSON INFORMAL WEDDING

In the First U. P. church, Cleveland boulevard, on Saturday evening, January 13, Miss Charlotte Louise Rogers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Burr M. Rogers, Carlisle street, this city, became the bride of Donald Ryden Olson of the United States Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Olson, North Canton, O. The impressive informal ceremony was performed by Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor, who also was the officiating minister at the wedding of the bride's parents 25 years ago.

Before the church altar embanked entirely with an arrangement of ferns and green foliage offset with lighted cathedral candles in branching candelabrum, the bride and groom exchanged vows at 6:30 o'clock. The single ring service was used, in the presence of a large gathering of guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a smartly tailored traveling suit of Hero blue gabardine. She wore a black calico hat and matching accessories, and her shoulder corsage was a single white camellia. Mrs. Britt Raburn of Cleveland Heights, O., as matron of honor and only attendant, wore a tailored suit of pink winter wool and purple accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of matching pink gerbera and a gardenia.

Kenneth Olson of North Canton, O., served his brother as best man. Appropriate music was played a half hour preceding the entrance of the bride and groom, and throughout the ceremony by Mrs. Jay L. Reed, who presided at the console.

After a brief congratulatory period, a small reception was held at the Canton, where a buffet wedding supper was served. The nuptial motif predominated in the table appointments. White baby mums, blue iris and green foliage decorated the table, centered with the tiered bride cake.

The couple left later on a short trip and will continue on to East Cleveland, O., taking up residence in their apartment at 1852 Roxbury avenue.

The bride is librarian at the Theodore Roosevelt junior high school in Cleveland, and the bridegroom, who is completing his last year of dentistry in Western Reserve, Cleveland, will enter active duty with the U. S. navy upon graduation.

Progress On Luzon

Luzon was always the principal objective in the American campaign against the Japanese in the Philippines. Luzon is the biggest island in the Philippine archipelago. It was the scene of one of the worst defeats in American military history, the campaign which ended in the surrender at Bataan and Corregidor. It presumably is held by the largest Japanese garrison in the Philippines.

All this makes the rapid progress of General MacArthur's drive on Manila the more sensational. Clark Field is a major prize in itself. It was a great blow to American forces on Luzon three years ago when Clark Field was bombed out of action by the Japs.

Although the conquest of Luzon by the forces under General MacArthur will mean the liberation of most of the Philippines and avenge Bataan and Corregidor, there are, as far as the war against Japan is concerned, other and more far-reaching possibilities.

The landings at Lingayen Gulf put Allied forces between the main Japanese forces on Luzon and their main supply bases of Formosa and the Japanese home islands. Determined Japanese efforts to reinforce and supply the Luzon garrison may be taken for granted. Such efforts will mean the risking of important fleets of transports, cargo vessels and protecting warships in trying to run the gauntlet of Allied naval forces around Luzon. And the more ships the Japanese risk, the better Allied naval strategists will like it. They welcome every opportunity to increase their already imposing destruction of Japan's naval strength.

And the defeat of the Japanese Luzon garrison will bring the establishment of new and nearer bases for stepped-up aerial attacks on Formosa and Japan and may lead directly to landings on the China coast, the step regarded as essential to the final assault upon and invasion of the Japanese mainland.

Success of the invasion of Luzon brings these possibilities into relatively immediate focus. It is a highly important forward step in the prosecution of the war in the Pacific and can be expected to pave the way for others even more so.

Let Car Designers Heed

On the theory, no doubt, that it does not harm to be forehanded, the Society of Automotive Engineers is studying a survey of what American motorists want in their postwar cars. The survey, prepared by four newspapers in the East, West, South and Midwest, presents some interesting findings.

Until the war stopped the production of new car models, American automobiles had been getting progressively lower, more streamlined and more plastered with chromium. But according to the SAE survey, the people who have to drive the cars do not see eye to eye with the designers. In fact, if the designing trend is carried much further, it would be hard for a motorist from behind the wheel to see eye to eye with anybody.

What the American motorist seems to want in his postwar car is more comfort and more safety, less emphasis on streamlining and chromium trimmings. Particularly the motorist wants much greater vision from the driver's seat. It has been years since the man behind the wheel could see his right front fender—and see, rather than guess, how close he was coming to objects to his right.

The survey shows that many drivers want bumpers of a standard height in order to prevent interlocking. They also want to be able to get at things more easily. For example, they want to be able to change a tire without lying down on the ground to place the jack properly. The last are desirable details, but the important thing is that apparently the American motorist has learned that safety in the construction of his car is far more important than its silhouette or its ornamentation. It can only be hoped that the designers are sufficiently impressed.

Don't Let Down This Safeguard

If the Constitution should be amended to permit the ratification of treaties by a simple majority of the Senate instead of a two-thirds majority, as at present, it would mean letting down another safeguard of our national rights erected by the founding fathers. The constitutional requirement that two-thirds of the senators must approve a treaty before it can become effective was designed to prevent hasty action in making contracts with foreign nations. Also is was intended to preserve the rights of the minority whose rights have been largely disregarded by the present administration.

If that provision were to be repealed there would be nothing to prevent even a minority of the people from having its way in signing a treaty not for the best interests of the United States, for it is easily conceivable that 49 Senators might represent minority sentiment while 47 Senators would represent majority sentiment.

The United States cannot afford to enter into an agreement with any other country which does not have the endorsement not only of a majority, but of a heavy majority, and you do not have to believe the cynical saying that "the majority is always wrong" to concur in that. But a treaty should have the backing of the American people almost as a whole if it is to be workable, since it is binding upon them all—Muncie, Ind. Press.

Fish As Food

Consumers of New York City who are wrestling with the problem of a curtailed supply of meat are being encouraged to eat more fish, but with what success remains to be seen. Firms operating fishing craft are sufficiently hopeful about it all that they are dispatching ten vessels down to Chesapeake Bay, a trip of three days, after porgies, fluke, seabass and whitties.

This is regarded as preferable to the nine-day emergency trip up the coast of New England for cod. New York regularly sends vessels to Florida and to Canada, with hauls ranging from 70,000 to 90,000 pounds per trip. With arrivals from all points, New York receives on an average 475,000 pounds of fish. But at present, due apparently to increased consumption, supplies of cod, pollock and Florida mackerel are only moderate.

The New York market has a tremendous quantity of frozen fish on hand. It is estimated that fish in cold storage totals 15,000,000 pounds, and propaganda is being started to persuade people who just naturally prefer beef to eat that frozen fish.

End of the world is set for Monday, March 12, by a California "seer." That gives everybody Sunday to rest up for the ordeal.

If the farmer is expected to produce still more food with still less help, any hankering he may have had to join the CIO is out.

President's Daughter In White House Role

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Now that President Roosevelt is about to enter on what may prove to be the greatest test of his entire career, it is worthwhile pointing out that none of the dire predictions about his health that were part of the whispering campaign of last October have come to pass.

One of the forms these rumors took was that he was merely waiting until the election was over to have a major operation. Even after November 7, this rumor came to life from time to time.

But, except for a vacation at Warm Springs and an interval or two at Hyde Park, the President has been working steadily in the White House. He looks well and—what is more remarkable—even serene.

If he is losing any sleep over the staggering array of problems that await solution, he shows no sign of it. Certainly, he will need all his strength and all his poise in the test to come.

The group around him is essentially unchanged. It is the same group that has held together throughout the war.

Addition To Household
There has, however, been one important addition to his household during the past year. Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Bottiger, the President's daughter, came to live at the White House somewhat more than a year ago, when her husband's assignment in the army took him overseas. She has made herself invaluable to her father as—for lack of a better term—confidential secretary.

Actually, she is more than that. Of late, when he has been swamped with work and pestered by requests of one kind or another, he has resorted increasingly in the phrase, "See Anna about that."

Mrs. Bottiger has no office. She does all her work in the White House proper. And often her real job begins after dinner, when the President retires to his study for a session with official papers or with the small group of men around him.

Like all Roosevelt's, she has an extremely boundless energy. She has the advantage, of course, of being able to talk to her "boss" with a family frankness—and she often does, to the shocked surprise of any chance listeners.

Just before he took off for the Tehran conference in late 1943, the President telephoned Mrs. Bottiger to say good-bye. She was then still in Seattle, where she had worked for the Post-Intelligencer, of which her husband had been the publisher. In the course of the telephone conversation, the President told her that as Commander-in-Chief, he had ordered Bottiger, then a major in the army, to accompany him to the conference.

Came To White House
Mrs. Bottiger, indignant that she was not also to be a member of the party, let loose a blast against her parent. Yes, he replied, it was true that Churchill's daughter was going, but she would be in uniform. It was not long after the President's return that Mrs. Bottiger came to live in the White House.

She has helped to fill the place left vacant when the late Miss Margaret Lehand, for so long the President's confidential secretary was first taken ill. Miss Lehand also lived in the White House and, like Mrs. Bottiger, was available to work late hours after the White House offices had been closed.

The group around the President has always been a small one. Some have felt that it was too small—that his horizon was too narrowly circumscribed, his relationships too often limited to those whose business it is to serve him.

He relied, on his return from Tehran, to give either Congress or the nation any comprehensive report on what had been accomplished since. He finally came out by indirect means in the pages of the Saturday Evening Post.

Surely, what happens at the coming conference of the Big Three should not be the secret of a little group. The consequences of silence and misunderstanding and distrust.

One of anything won't do. Make it nothing if not two. What is given, sister, brother, Must be given to the other. Candy, paper cap or gum, Must have two when none I come.

Table favors—paper stuff! One I've learned, is not enough. Look around and grab another. Sister wants what goes to brother. Double must be all I bring. One's trouble-breeding thing.

OH, DOCTOR
Still dealing with intriguing explorations in the realm of science, we hasten to report the case of the excited woman who according to our usually reliable informant, telephoned a drug store recently for assistance.

"It's this way," she explained to the clerk. "I have some of those pills which supply vitamins for plants and, mistaking them for aspirin, I took a couple. What do I do now?"

The druggist said he would investigate and call back. Presently her telephone rang.

"I haven't been able to find an antidote, but I don't think you need to worry," the pharmacist reassured her. "As near as I can figure, you've just swallowed two shovelfuls of fertilizer."

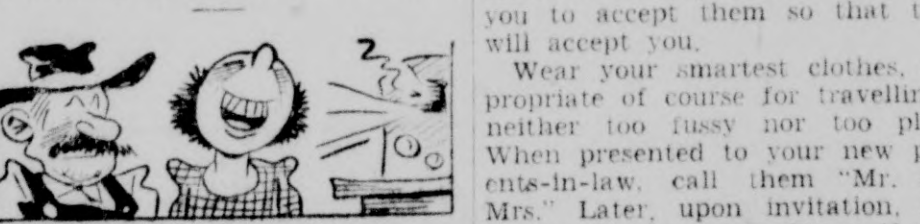

Many a man would make a good deal better living if he didn't try to do such an elaborate job.

Then there is the little story of the minister who, on a pastoral call, talked with the small girl of the household.

This News Really Nearly Sensational

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. WHEN harassed members of the employer class, anti-New Deal Democrats or Republicans denounce the Wagner Labor Act as a monstrous legislative concoction and charge the National Labor Relations Board with calculated venom and prejudice, that is not news. They have been doing that for a long time now—and a good many persons believe their case well proven.

BUT, when demand for repeal of the Wagner Act comes from a strongly pro-Roosevelt labor union and when the official organ of this labor union insist that the NLRB is nothing more than a "standing committee of the CIO," certainly that is news. And when it is noted that the head of the strangely denunciatory union is none other than Mr. Daniel J. Tobin, close personal friend of the President, that the President selected Mr. Tobin's union before which to make his first "political" speech in his recent campaign; that Mr. Tobin, in his heavy-footed way, was one of the earliest and most earnest supporters of the fourth-term movement and is now regarded as an aspirant for the post of Secretary of Labor—when these things are considered, then the unexpected outbreak of this union, though not without its humorous side, comes pretty close to being sensational.

FOR THE Wagner Act has been proclaimed by Mr. Roosevelt and all the New Deal spokesmen, high and low, as "Labor's Magna Carta," one of the greatest documents ever devised by the mind of man. Any disparagement of it was considered akin to sacrilege and to be expected only of the political reactionaries and the "greedy rich." That it should be denounced in the official magazine of the AFL International Teamsters Union in an article written by Mr. Thomas E. Flynn, executive assistant to Mr. Tobin, is something of a shock. Of course, one tends to discount this AFL indictment because it is not at all aimed at the gross manner in which the law is framed against industry nor the way the board is packed against the employer, but only belittles because the rival labor faction—the CIO—is in control and thus unable to use the law.

SOLDIER BRINGS HOME A WIFE
"I am an American soldier's wife just over here from England. My husband has a medical discharge from the Army and is about to take me to his home town to meet his parents and see down town. You give me some advice about my appearance, behavior. What should I call my parents-in-law? I come from a provincial English town and I shall settle down in a small town here."

Answer: First of all, be yourself. Don't try to impress your in-laws with your illustrious background. Be flattered by your frank friendly attitude. By no means "put on airs" or try to convey the idea that you are used to living on a "granier" scale than they are. It behooves you to accept them so that they will accept you.

Wear your smartest clothes, appropriate of course for traveling—neither too fussy nor too plain. When presented to your new parents-in-law, call them "Mr. and Mrs." Later, upon invitation, call them "Mother and Dad"; or, if they are reticent about suggesting that, voluntarily do so. They will be flattered by such filial devotion.

Most important of all, do not criticize the accent of people you meet in your new home town because it seems so vastly different from your own. There is a variety of accents in America just as there is in England. Bear in mind that yours sounds as strange to them as their does to you.

Try your best to be natural, agreeable and charming so that your new relatives and neighbors will accept you as one of them. Don't be timid or nervous about meeting your husband's family and friends. There is a warmth in most American small towns.

If you join in all of the community life and accept the good will of all, you will be popular and never want for friendship.

German Drive Will Raise Allied Casualties
Wallace In Lead For Labor Secretaryship
River And Harbor Bill Strikes Another Snag

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—History repeats itself on the western front. Look for the German counter-offensive to raise Allied casualty rates far beyond present totals due to the slow, grinding attritional type of warfare between infantry units.

Military experts are agreed that Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt's attack was planned to come at a time of bad weather and that Allied casualties might have been lower than the now anticipated total if United States and British aircraft could have gotten into operation earlier.

Now the campaign appears to have resolved itself into the kind of fighting which shot up dead, wounded and captured totals in 1914 in the Ardennes forest, at Verdun, the Second Marne and Cambrai actions. In those engagements, as now, it was man against man and armor against armor.

Military circles still recall how the Canadian Princess Pat division suffered appalling casualties in World War I. Of course, the casualties work both ways, with the Germans today suffering heavy losses and apparently determined—if the counter-offensive proves to be their last major effort to exact as many Allied losses as possible before the end comes.

Wallace For Labor Job
Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, who becomes merely Citizen Wallace after President Roosevelt's fourth term inauguration Jan. 20, is believed to have the inside track on Frances Perkins' job as secretary of labor.

The only obstacle in Wallace's way is said to be a last-minute refusal by President Roosevelt to call for Mrs. Perkins' resignation and, of course, Mr. Roosevelt is notorious for his unwillingness to "fire" anyone.

There is little doubt that Wallace would grab the labor secretaryship if he got a chance at it. His sympathies with organized labor are well known and he feels the spot would be heavy for him.

Signals definitely are off on gossip that Mr. Roosevelt might name Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, his close New York adviser, to Miss Perkins' post. Labor simply would not stand for it and there would be a terrific confirmation fight in the Senate.

One woman is enough in that job, a powerful figure on Capitol Hill observed the other day.

Wallace, naturally, would have powerful labor backing as a candidate for secretary. He got all-out CIO support at Chicago in his bid for renomination as vice-president and is liked by the AFL. He would have support in the Senate, too, where even Republicans have professed respect for his honesty.

May Filibuster River Bill
The half-billion dollar river and harbor authorization bill seems to have run into a dead-end street, despite the fact that both houses of Congress have passed it and conferees have worked out a final draft of the measure which has been approved by the House.

The reason is that a group of western senators intends to filibuster against the conference report because the completed bill contains an amendment sponsored by Rep. Alfred J. Elliott (D.) of California.

The amendment would waive restrictions in existing law and make government irrigation water available to large as well as to small farms in the Central Valley project in California.

Because of the threatened filibuster, Senate action on the bill seems unlikely. House conferees mean while refuse to recede from the Elliott amendment.

It looks as if sponsors of the bill will have to try again.

EARLY TRAINING IN NUMBER WORK
Many children, too young to enter the first grade at school enjoy playing with numbers. They like to count. Even though no one teaches them, they learn to add, subtract, and even divide, and they never confuse the process, such confusion they learn later at school.

As the child develops speech, he only gradually gets the meaning of one, two and the like. Our oldest child, soon after beginning to talk, shouted upon seeing six horses in a field, "Horse—two horses—three horses—four horses—five horses—six horses—seven horses—eight horses—nine horses—ten ## 'Intimate Glimpses' Have Real Meaning To Publicity Head

Little "human interest" stories about noted people, "Intimate Glimpses", Donald Scott-Morrison (gifted young pianist) calls his own character sketches of old music masters, now have a real meaning for publicity chairman of Woman's club, Mrs. John A. Edgar, who was the dinner guest of Mr. Morrison and his equally charming mother, Mrs. J. A. Morrison, while they were in New Castle.

Adverse driving conditions north occasioned unexpected change of plans and they remained in the city until the next day before going on to Erie to fulfill another concert appearance.

Both Mrs. Morrison, who only tours occasionally, and her distinguished son are delightfully unaffected people who enjoy recalling noteworthy experiences. Few of his public here knew that his hit program in the afternoon was carried through successfully in spite of a serious accident on the icy pavement in Cleveland a few days previous.

Their home is in Napoleon, O., where he began his musical education at the age of 13. Like many another mother's problems, practice period was difficult. However, a pupil of Guy Maile and Tobias Matthay, he has studied in both Europe and America.

Since taking up concert work he has won the acclaim of audiences from coast to coast, in that he is an artist of top rank, and his program is both unique and different.

dis a voting power out of proportion to their actual voting population, as each state, regardless of population, has two senators. Thus Nevada, with but one representative and a population less than two hundred thousand, has three electoral votes, Delaware, with one representative and a population of less than three hundred thousand, also has three, as has Wyoming with one representative and a population of a little more than two hundred fifty thousand. Several other states with two representatives each have four electoral votes. In many states of the South, where Negro voters are practically disfranchised, and the vote is almost unanimously Democratic, the electoral voting system has long been a dependable source of party strength, although the total popular vote of five of these states is less than that of New York State.

The constantly growing strength of the big cities in certain states—and the power of political bosses in these cities—creates antagonism in the agricultural states and those of small population against proposals to abolish the present system. Whether they could command sufficient votes in Congress to prevent submission of a Constitutional amendment is something to be determined if and when the test comes. In any case, the subject is due for a considerable amount of discussion in and out of Congress in the future.

Philippine Army Gets Own Insignia

Order Of 800,000 Shoulder Patches
Completed By Quartermaster
Corps Within Ten Days

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A shipment of a new type shoulder patch for the Philippine army and constabulary, which is cooperating with U. S. troops in the Philippines, is on its way to Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philadelphia quartermaster depot.

The batch was sent out less than a week after General MacArthur's headquarters cabled to the war department requesting 800,000 of the shoulder patches.

Brig. Gen. Roland Walsh, commandant of the QMC, declared that the story of the manufacture of these patches is typical of the "impossible" jobs handled by the quartermaster corps with almost unbelievable speed.

The entire procurement of 750,000 Philippine army and 50,000 constabulary patches ordered from the Pacific was completed and dispatched within 10 days after it had been requisitioned.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 15.—(INS)—Benjamin F. Miller, when the court will appoint two lawyers to defend him.

According to Male's own admission to authorities, he killed Walter O. Smith of Houli, a crippled school teacher, after an argument in 1905, with a mattock. He fled to Oregon, where he adopted the name of A. J. Pritchard.

Male is tentatively scheduled to plead before the Marion county jurist on January 22. He may plead sooner if he desires.

children before he entered school, with the hope that other parents might profit therefrom. When he was about five years old he manifested strong interest in numbers. He discovered he could find the sum of any one of the 100 additional combinations by a counting process he had worked out alone. For his amusement (also for ours), he would put down such simple sums as 6 and 7, 8 and 5, 3 and 7. To our astonishment and delight he would write the answers, making no mistakes.

It was not until he was in the fourth grade at school that we were disillusioned. Then we discovered that he was "adding" these combinations in exactly the same way he added them at five. He still counted them out. In the four years he had made no progress whatsoever. He had actually lost much, since this counting habit was a liability to him. He would have been better off in the fourth grade if he had never had any experience at adding during the earlier years. But the only difference between him and many other children was that he had learned the counting habit as he added before he started to school. They learn it early in school.

Moral: Don't encourage the young child to add numbers by counting them out. If he wants to add, after beginning school, have him memorize the whole number facts like 6 and 7 are 13, as mechanically as he would learn to spell "cat".

Pressure Groups Held To Account

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A report by Stuart Chase, writer-economist, warned flatly today that American democracy is endangered by selfish pressure groups which have been operating on the principal of "me first and the public be damned".

"If this spirit of free-for-all actually persists after demobilization day, nobody will get anything especially the rest of us," he declared. "Because economic breakdown will not be far off."

One of the nation's primary post-war jobs will be to "curb the pressure groups" and end the recurring deadlocks which are growing so disastrous for all of us," Chase said.

One of the earliest examples of international organizations was the Universal Postal Union of 1874, whose members agreed on the cooperative and uniform handling of mail, parcel post and money orders passing from one country to another.

New Shakeup In Japan Coming

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Japanese Domei agency admitted today that governmental political circles in Japan had been split wide open under the pressure of a "demand by the nation for a stronger internal structure to meet the growing seriousness of the war."

Indicating that a move was afoot to force the resignation of Kuniaki Koiso, Japan's second wartime premier, Domei reported that some of the newly-developed "factions" among the national leaders were clamoring for a "bold and unprecedented political renovation" and "a second political reformation."

Domei's report of a scheduled series of high government conferences and an earlier report by the Tokyo radio that the Koiso cabinet is to hold a special meeting today suggested that the crisis might come to a head before the Imperial Diet reconvenes next Sunday.

New Type Nazi Bomb Reported

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A new type of German rocket bomb has been observed at an undisclosed point south of Stockholm, Blue Network Correspondent John Bryson reported in a broadcast from London today.

Bryson, quoting Swedish reports received in England, said the missile seems to change course in mid-air, presumably through radio control from the base from which it is launched.

SENIORS HEAR BACCALAUREATE

selections, "Send Forth Thy Spirit," by Schuetke, and "Jesus, Friend of Sinners," by Grieg. Eighteen of the choir wore the gray robes of the graduating class.

Baccalaureate Sermon
Rev. Rose, in his address to the class, posed its members the question, "What are you going to do with your life?" modern equivalent of the Scriptural text, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve," from the Book of Joshua.

He said in part:

"Many of you believe that you are living in an unusual day. In your minds there was never a day like this—old ways, habits, customs, moral principles, have passed away and all things have become new. The fact is that while you face definite problems, they are basically the same problems your parents faced, and American youth have been facing since the days of the last war.

What I want to ask is this, what are you going to do with your life? What will you do with your body, your intellect, your talent? Waste them in riotous living as so many prodigals are doing in this hour, or will you use them for the betterment of mankind. Believing that most of you will want to make the most out of life, both for yourself and others, I would suggest three things you should do if you are to realize your purpose.

First, determine the purpose of your life now, for you are neither too young nor too old. You must choose between the way of the world which is the way of selfishness and greed, or the way of God which is the way of service to your fellowmen. The way of the world says get into that profession that will give you the most money, for the least amount of work and responsibility. Thus you think of self. A great many of the evils of the capitalist system can be traced to this motive, namely selfishness and greed.

Jesus said, "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Before you reach your decision, ask again and again, 'What doth it profit?' And remember how Jesus also said, 'Whoever would be great among you shall be your servant.' The world ever honors those who serve, rather than those who want to be served. Determine now the purpose of your life for you are neither too young nor too old.

Second, if you would make the most out of your life and fulfill your purpose, you must learn how to get along with people. People talk of what they want to do after the war. Do they speak of labor for world peace, for better governments, for better morals? No. They reveal the same old selfish interests by talking of new houses, new cars, and travel abroad. How will the world be better unless we labor to make it better? Begin now to labor to make your contribution to a better world, for you are neither too young nor too old.

Third, you will live in a competitive world, a world of hard knocks, therefore if you are to succeed in your life mission, you must learn how to get along with people. If you would be happy and successful, you must learn to be tolerant and charitable. The world in which you live lacks tolerance and charity, hence war and all the evils thereof. If the world is to be better, you must give it through your own life. For if we cannot solve our petty differences in the smaller circles of life, how can we solve them in the larger circles of international life. I regret that in our own community we have failed in this spirit of tolerance and of charity in the smaller things of life, how can we exercise them in the larger matters of life. If you would make of your life a joyous pilgrimage, be tolerant and be charitable. Begin now to develop these graces. I say, if we cannot demonstrate the spirit of tolerance and of charity in the smaller things of life, how can we exercise them in the larger matters of life. If you would make of your life a joyous pilgrimage, be tolerant and be charitable. Begin now to develop these graces. I say, if we cannot demonstrate the spirit of tolerance and of charity in the smaller things of life, how can we exercise them in the larger matters of life. If you would make of your life a joyous pilgrimage, be tolerant and be charitable. Begin now to develop these graces. ## Believe Wallace Will Get Place In New Cabinet

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Belief that Vice-President Henry A. Wallace will enter President Roosevelt's cabinet increased in congressional circles today as he neared the end of his term.

Both the White House and Wallace maintained tight-lipped silence as to his political future. But senatorial friends, backed by some knowledge voiced confidence that Wallace will be given a high post in the administration.

Wallace would like to succeed Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones, according to friends. Published reports that he had written Mr. Roosevelt asking for the post were denounced by them as falsehoods spread by his enemies in the New Deal.

One senator said he understood that Wallace could have his choice of the cabinet posts of commerce, labor or agriculture. Wallace, however, was said to be adverse to both the labor and agriculture jobs.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

CHESTER—You can add another category to the long list of manpower shortages. Cemetery officials reported a shortage of grave diggers. Some funerals were delayed, they pointed out, because it takes two men from six to eight hours to complete the arrangement of a grave.

HARRISBURG—Apples really are a rarity in Egypt. "One apple in a package sent to me was shared by 15 girls," wrote Pvt. Jean L. McDonald of the WAC.

UNIONTOWN—One out of each five of the approximately 900 marriages performed in Fayette county last year ended in divorce, Lillian Bookshar of the probate court's office, reported.

COLLEGEVILLE—Army War Correspondent Cpl. Henry Anstett traveled 29,000 miles in two years without being injured, but he was no sooner home when he became a casualty. He slipped on ice and suffered a broken toe.

MEDIA—The Teen Canteen at Christ Church, which recently celebrated its second anniversary, is a popular meeting place. "We have no rules—until you break them," said Rev. William J. Alberts, founder.

PITTSBURGH—Economy and conservatism will be the requirements of a prosperous post war America, predicted Max Rothschild, on his 90th birthday. "In that way we will avoid both a boom and a panic neither of which we want," he stated.

FULLERTON IS GIVEN HONORS

Pomona Grangers Give Tribute To New Masters Of Pennsylvania State Grange

Honoring the newly elected state master, Lawrence county Pomona Grange held its regular meeting Saturday in the Westfield Grange, home Grange of W. Sharp Fullerton, with prominent grangers from neighboring counties present.

Past State Master J. A. Boak introduced Pomona Master W. H. McCullough and H. R. McCullough as the speakers for the occasion. Other speakers included Mr. Davidson and M. A. Stewart of the State Grange executive committee; M. A. Elder of the State Grange legislative committee; Rev. Robert M. Patterson, past moderator of Shenango Presbytery; Walker Shannon, lecturer of the State Grange; Mr. McCullough, master of the Beaver county Grange; and Roger Jewett, of the Greater New Castle association.

Emphasizing that the farm builds a strong background for leadership, the speakers pointed out that seven out of 10 city leaders have had early training in agriculture. Although Pennsylvania leads in 57 major industries of the United States, it ranks only eleventh in agriculture, showing a need for a strong agricultural organization such as the Grange.

The problems of agriculture must be solved so that it can use its opportunities to the fullest advantage, the speakers continued. There must be co-operation between industry, labor and the farmer, who averages 84 hours of labor a week.

Musical Program
Musical selections for the program were provided by students of the North Beaver high school in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton. Eleanor Rainey gave a violin solo; Irene Yelkovich a violin solo; and John Klamer a vocal solo, accompanied by Helen Gwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton concluded the program with well chosen remarks concerning Grange work, and the meeting was followed by a reception for the guests of honor.

The morning session was devoted to the regular business of the organization, with worthy Master W. H. McCullough presiding. Subordinate masters of the various granges of the county gave reports of the recent state Grange meeting held at Harrisburg, and words of welcome were extended by Wendell Bell, master of Westfield Grange, with David Kyle of Big Beaver Grange responding.

Herbert Leslie of Big Beaver Grange was elected member of the executive committee, while Irwin Ropp of New Bedford Grange was re-elected a member of the finance committee.

Extending School Terms Likely To Bring Protests

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 15.—(INS)—Extending Mercer county rural schools into early summer to make up time lost when heavy snow compelled shut-downs may bring protests from parents as well as teachers.

Most rural school lost more than two weeks and were fortunate additional time was saved because the peak of snow came during regular two-week holiday vacation.

If various district school boards decide lost time must be made up, they will extend regular terms well into early summer. This will affect schools which have early closing to free boys and girls for work on farms operated by their parents.

BETTY GRABLE UNDER GUARD

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Betty Grable, blonde film star, has been under police guard for several days as a result of a "tip" that a kidnap plot might be directed against her. It was learned today.

Police Capt. Thad Brown revealed that two men had been overheard in a bar discussing a plan to abduct the star and hold her for ransom.

Officials of the studio police at 20th Century-Fox were notified and precautionary measures were decided upon.

Richard B. Hood, district chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, refused to comment on the case.

Miss Grable was the intended victim of three previous extortion attempts during the last four years. In each case, however, the men were arrested and convicted.

German Report Says Reserves Are Being Brought Up

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The German DNB agency reported today that both the Nazis and the Russians are bringing up fresh reserves at the Vistula river bend in Poland.

The German agency comment said the Vistula bend seemed to be "the scene of one of the greatest battles of the war."

The German report added that Soviet forces also were making new penetrations in East Prussia under the cover of a thick fog. The Soviets, according to the German commentator, threw "exceedingly powerful forces into an attack at Pulkallen, 13 miles inside the Reich border."

He admitted also that Red army forces had succeeded in making penetrations in Nazi lines west of Stallupoenen, six miles inside the Reich.

German Report Says Reserves Are Being Brought Up

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The German DNB agency reported today that both the Nazis and the Russians are bringing up fresh reserves at the Vistula river bend in Poland.

The German agency comment said the Vistula bend seemed to be "the scene of one of the greatest battles of the war."

The German report added that Soviet forces also were making new penetrations in East Prussia under the cover of a thick fog. The Soviets, according to the German commentator, threw "exceedingly powerful forces into an attack at Pulkallen, 13 miles inside the Reich border."

He admitted also that Red army forces had succeeded in making penetrations in Nazi lines west of Stallupoenen, six miles inside the Reich.

Congressman Urges 48-Hour Week Program

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Rep. Andrew J. May (D. Ky.), House Military chairman, today proposed writing a compulsory 48-hour week provision into his pending "work or else" bill as a major administration tug-of-war developed over the manpower legislation.

While May's committee proceeded to hear its first labor witnesses, Sen. James M. Mead (D. N. Y.), announced that his Senate War Investigating committee will open manpower hearings, probably this week. Mead, a loyal administration supporter, came out flatly against national service legislation and in favor of strengthening present manpower control orders.

But on the House side of the capitol—where Mayor La Guardia of New York, Socialist party and AFL representatives were to testify—sentiment appeared to have jelled for some kind of "pressure" legislation. A majority of May's committee favored making men on the home-front liable to fine or imprisonment if they refuse to take essential war jobs.

Would Require 48-Hour Week

Although scrapping his original plan to use Army induction as a penalty against recalcitrant workers, May announced that he will offer an amendment to his bill requiring a statutory work week of 48 hours for the duration of the war.

Philip Murray for further conferences instead of immediate legislation on the manpower question, May replied:

"The time has passed for more talk or conferences to solve this manpower problem. We've got to have legislation to meet the situation."

At the same time, it was learned that Frederick C. Crawford, chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, plans to appear Wednesday in opposition to a national service act.

The backstage struggle over how far to go on President Roosevelt's request for ultimate national service legislation and immediate action to use 4-F's was marked over the week-end, congressional sources said, by continued administration conferences.

House members looked for a knock-down-drag-out fight on the objections raised by labor when the May bill reaches the floor. Mead's announcement refocused interest in the Senate, which had been marking time pending House action.

In opposing a draft-labor bill, Mead said:

"It occurs to me that if present directives were carried out and supported by statute we will do a better job than if we have national service legislation."

Radio Studio At Westminster Is Enlarged

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Westminster radio workshop production rooms are now being enlarged and improvements will be completed by the latter part of January, according to Donald L. Barbe, director and speech instructor at Westminster college.

The studio, formerly consisting of one room, has been enlarged with the addition of a control room. Connecting the two rooms is a six-foot window through which the technician will be able to see the entire studio.

A soundproof chamber will be set up at the entrance to the studio to cut out noise from the hall. The walls of the studio have been treated with soundproof blocks to cut down sound vibration.

A radio will be installed in the control room for students to listen to programs over various networks and a loud speaker will connect the control room and the studio. The main studio will now be able to accommodate all campus organizations, no matter how large. If they wish to make recordings or practice radio technique.

Broadcasts will be made from time to time over local stations, according to Barbe. A full program for the workshop has been planned for the second semester.

March Of Dimes Under Way Here

Annual Campaign For Funds To Fight Infantile
Paralysis Led By Postmaster Hanna

C. M. ENGLAND IS
CITY CHAIRMAN

Postmaster William R. Hanna has been named Lawrence County campaign director for the annual fund appeal and March of Dimes, opening today in celebration of the president's birthday, by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It was announced by Basil O'Connor, president of the organization.

Mr. Hanna's organization consists of Clarence M. England, vice-chairman; Robert L. Meermans, treasurer; and L. C. Matz, secretary. The advisory committee is composed of Jacob P. Perelman, Dr. William D. Cleland, Dr. Earl F. Henderson, Dr. J. Luman Popp, Dr. Mildred Rogers, Dr. William D. Wallace, Dr. Paul H. Wilson, Dr. William A. Womer, Dr. Frank D. Campbell, Dr. Hugh M. Hart, Dr. Gerald Zieve, C. M. England, vice-chairman, will act as city chairman during the coming campaign.

Commenting on the need to reinforce our lines of defense against this insidious enemy of childhood, Mr. Hanna stated, "The 1944 epidemic of infantile paralysis was the second worst outbreak of the disease in its history in the United States. Fortunately we were on the alert and well prepared to meet that attack in all parts of the nation. More than a million dollars—or ten million dimes—contributed by the American people were spent by your National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to provide the best of modern care and treatment for all victims of the epidemic. Since no one knows where, or how hard, polio may strike in 1945, we must again be ready to meet the attack wherever it may come. Participation in the annual March of Dimes appeal is our assurance that no victim of infantile paralysis will go unaided for regardless of age, race, creed or color."

"You as Catholic graduates must above all things meet the challenge of life—the challenge of your faith and religion in order to insure success in the future..." So said Rev. Fr. Joseph McCarthy of St. Titus church of Alliquippa, when he addressed an audience of 33 Catholic graduates of the New Castle senior high school at religious services held in St. Michael's church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Father McCarthy in continuing his address, emphasized that after the war "there will be a need for leadership, in which one must strive for the good of all mankind. You will play a large part in the future post-war program, and as Catholics men and women you can do so by adopting the principles of tolerance and justice; by choosing between the right and wrong. Adopt the doctrines of Christ, and soon the influence will be felt by those around you. Strive and persevere in the teachings of Christ and be pioneers and crusaders for the true faith. By influencing others to live the right way of life—to strive for perfection and personal sanctity, will instill in you the real pioneer and crusader spirit, for the cause of Christ, and you will go forth courageously."

Father McCarthy concluded by extending his personal wish together with the priests of Lawrence county for the attainment of success in all activities in the future years to come.

Pleading Father McCarthy's talk the litany of the Sacred Heart was recited by Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarty pastor of St. Mary's church, followed by the prayer for peace.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament brought services to a close, with Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarty as celebrant; Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, deacon, and Rev. Fr. John M. Unger, sub-deacon. Rev. Fr. James Kernan was the master of ceremonies.

Other priests assisting in the sanctuary were Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito, Rev. Fr. Francis C. Struff, Rev. Fr. V. V. O'Donnell, Rev. Fr. William M. Pischke, Rev. Fr. Francis Lesniak and Rev. Fr. Ignatius Koller.

"Holy God We Praise Thy Name" closed the services.

Included in the evening's program was a delicious dinner served at 6 o'clock in the social rooms of St. Michael's church.

Mayor Imposes
Heavy Fines Upon
Two Juveniles

Two juveniles, one from the seventh and another from the third ward, today in police court felt the wrath of Mayor John F. Haven after they had been arrested by Patrolman Shaffer for fighting at 12:50 a. m. today in East Washington street. The mayor, incensed by their attitude while in court, coupled to the charge of fighting and apparent violation of the curfew ordinance, imposed fines of $25 each upon the defendants.

According to the police report, two groups, in two autos, clashed last night. Young girls were in the groups, one of whom, according to police, is only 14 years old. After the asserted melee, Patrolman Shaffer took seven juveniles into custody but only three were held. One of them later was discharged.

In court, His Honor stated, the pair appeared contemptuous of proceedings and, when one began to unbutton his coat, which the chief of police, Robert D. Hanna, construed as a willingness to fight anyone, the chief seized both. He didn't use soft gloves in hustling them out of the court.

The mayor fined both $25. "I do not intend to let a couple of 'smart guys' disrupt the clean pleasure of other juveniles who may be out after the time for the curfew. It was their attitude during court that caused the $25 fines," he said. He ordered their parents be notified of the court's action.

The chief said that the drivers of the cars could give no satisfactory answer as to the gas which they were using to drive the cars.

National Association of Tobacco Distributors In Conference
On Plan In Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The National Association of Tobacco Distributors met in Chicago today to ratify and announce a plan for the rationing of cigarettes on a nationwide scale.

The program was said to be designed to insure a more equitable distribution of cigarettes during the period that the shortage continues and to cope with the black market.

Joseph Kolodny, executive secretary of the association, said all its 2,800 members who distributed cigarettes and other forms of tobacco to 1,250,000 retail firms throughout the country, were expected to function under the plan. This would mean, virtually the entire country would be affected.

Kolodny said details of the rationing plan would be released later today. It was reported to call for the orderly rationing to retailers, partly on the basis of information obtained in Chicago where wholesalers have been rationing cigarettes to retailers under more or less arbitrary plans for some time.

It was understood that distribution to outlets would be based on sales made during a certain base period, probably before the national shortage first was felt. The consensus among the distributors, about 1,000 of whom are attending the Chicago meeting, was that the shortage will continue for the duration, since supplies cannot be increased to any market extent so long as manufacturers lack sufficient labor.

Snow And Colder Weather Forecast

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Additional light snow in western Pennsylvania tonight was expected to add to troublesome driving conditions.

Although the thawing weather over the week-end was reported to have helped clean some streets of snow in various towns, highways in outlying districts were reported still icy today.

In the Pittsburgh district, the weatherman predicted a low of 27 tonight, with tomorrow somewhat colder.

Sharon High Here Tonight

New Castle Faces Tough Section Three Foe In Advanced Game This Evening

NO PRELIMINARY GAME TONIGHT

New Castle high school basketball team, fresh from the stunning 53 to 19 defeat administered to a fighting Allegheny High Steel team at Allegheny last Friday night, will play the Sharon Tigers tonight at George Washington gym in a game moved up from Tuesday night on account of graduation at senior high. The game tonight starts at 8:15 o'clock.

The doors will open at 7:15 o'clock tonight. A crowd of close to the capacity mark is looked for as Sharon will bring a large delegation here.

There will not be any preliminary game due to a conflict with other activities at the Washington school tonight. It was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner. Sharon having been nudged by Beaver Falls 37 to 36 on Friday night and finding themselves in second place behind Beaver Falls and Farrell will be fighting hard when they hit the local gym tonight and will try to wreak vengeance on New Castle.

Keeps Fingers Crossed
If New Castle plays the same brand of basketball that they did at the Allegheny floor, the Sharon team is going to find the sledding anything but smooth; in fact Coach Duddy Moore's Tigers will have their tails pretty well twisted here tonight. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is hoping that the New Castle boys have kept the stride that showed the Allegheny team under 20 field goals and 13 fouls on a strange floor.

New Castle is not out of the Section Three picture yet and a win tonight will put them in the middle of the red-hot fight, providing they can dump Farrell at Farrell and Beaver Falls here.

New Castle will have to watch "Admiral" Pele Nemetz tonight, the Sharon Tiger forward is one of the finest in the section and a real menace. Billy Andrews and Fred Wimer can match Nemetz in cleverness if they play their usual fine game. Jackson and Fisher, the two starting guards who did a swell job at Allegheny, can be expected to hold up their end tonight.

Following are the probable lineups for tonight:

New Castle	Sharon
Andrews	Nemetz
Kozela	Zinay
Wimmer	Butchko
Jackson	Yarab
Fisher	Koss

West Point Washes Out Sensenbaurer

Former Ohio State Star And Four Others Washed Out By Mathematics

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 15.—(INS)—Coach Earl Blaik, whose fabulous army squad crashed into national acclaim in 1941, will have to do without the services of Dean Sensenbaurer, the ex-Ohio State star back who helped Army in the mythical national football championship.

Sensenbaurer and four other football-playing Plebes were washed out of the military academy because of scholastic deficiencies. All except the former Ohio State back can return to the academy next fall after boning up on math—the course they failed—at a recognized prep school. Sensenbaurer flunked out in three courses and cannot return without obtaining a new congressional appointment and draft deferment.

The other Plebes who were dropped from the academy roster were DeWitt Coulter ( tackle ), Hank Folsberg ( end ), Art Gerometta ( guard ) and Elmer Raba ( full-back ).

Age No Barrier In Some Sports

Plenty Of So-Called "Old Men" In Sports Have Made Comebacks

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Jim Herbert doesn't believe the old saying that "youth must be served" and he is still trying to prove it wrong. Jim, who will remember, is the former world record holder at the 600-meter run and still is the Metropolitan champion at the distance.

Of course, Jim isn't such an oldster at that because he's been a star in AAU competition for only 14 years, and that's a mere trifle compared with many other athletes.

There is old Clarence DeMar, for instance, who was still good enough to win marathons in his 40s and for all I know to the contrary he can still make good time for 26 miles.

Boxing-Hockey Roughest
Fighting and hockey are two of the roughest of all sports but the books are full of fellows who have been top-liners even when they were old enough to dangle grandchildren on their knees.

There was Bob Fitzsimmons, for instance, the Cornishman, who won his first fight in New Zealand when he was 18 and 34 years later when he was 52, he had his last fight in Pennsylvania.

Sam Langford, the Boston Tar Baby, fought all comers for 23 years and in his last fight, when he was 41, he knocked out Fireman Jim Flynn in three rounds.

Johnson Fought 25 Years
Jack Johnson fought 25 years until he was 46, and the last I heard of the old champion, he was trying to arrange a fight for himself and he is now 67 and don't think that old boy couldn't take care of himself for two or three rounds with any youngster.

Polo players last almost a lifetime but they use the horse's legs, not their own. Swimmers, especially long distance ones, go on and on, and billiard players, like Willie Hoppe, can be top noters for half a century or more.

Yes, yes, youth must be served of course, but some of the old timers seem able to handle themselves pretty well in the clutches.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

EVER GREEN MEMORIES

Monoliths, monuments, granite shafts and statues dot courthouse squares and city parks throughout the land as memorials to the dead of past wars. In keeping with the spirit of our times and as living, growing, economically constructive memorial to the men who are giving their lives in the present conflict, nothing could be more appropriate than community forests, model woodlots, roadside plantings of shade trees, a grove or a single elm or maple dedicated to them.

The idea is by no means a new one. Outdoor groups, Boy Scouts, women's clubs and countless other organizations have devoted considerable attention to such projects. But the desirability of these memorial plantings is so obvious, so patently beyond the domain of adverse criticism, that it can bear endless repetition, with the result that more general interest will be aroused.

If the plantings are to be a success they must be carefully planned with the aid of expert advice, and the work involved must be conscientiously followed through. The setting apart of wilderness tracts and naming them for certain individuals or military units, commendable as it may be, in itself, should not be permitted to become our concept of memorial forests projects.

What To Do
If we are to make two trees grow where one grew before we must reforest marginal lands, plant or replant waste areas that are unsuited to agriculture, protect the young trees, thin out an undesirable growth, guard against fires, and steer the project through the vicissitudes of flood and drought, insects and other adverse influences to which it may become subject.

There isn't an outdoor organization in the country so small that it cannot undertake such work, on a scale commensurate with its own or the extent of the co-operation it can enlist. Some of the returns that may accrue from a memorial tree planting project, aside from keeping green the memory of our war dead:

Erosion prevention, flood control, production of lumber and other forest products, furnishing homes for wildlife, preservation of hunting and fishing facilities, preservation of species of trees that may be vanishing from the area in question, rebuilding the topsoil and thus the fertility of the tract, development of recreational and educational centers—all these apart from the inestimable, purely aesthetic values.

Consult your county agent or conservation department about plans.

Byron Nelson Is Tourney Winner

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15.—(INS)—Byron Nelson, winner of the $5000 Phoenix open, was out in front today as 1945's top money golfer.

The brilliant Toledo, O., shot-maker captured the Phoenix tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 274 that beat out the veteran Denny Shute of Akron, O., by two strokes and in the victory he marked up a win that was good for $1533.33 in war bonds.

This, added to the $1600 he got for tying for second in the recent Los Angeles open, gave him $3133.33 for a year that isn't yet well under way.

Nelson's winning score of 274 was 10 under par for the 72 holes. His composite for the four rounds was 68-65-72-69—274.

MAY BUY TAM O'SHANTER
FARRELL, Pa., Jan. 15.—Tam O'Shanter public golf course is to be purchased by a group of Sharon men. It was learned today, Wade Walker of West Middlesex is founder and owner of the 18-hole course.

Tam O'Shanter, located along the West Middlesex highway, was started 15 years ago and became nationally famous when Al M. Landon opened his 1936 presidential campaign on the grounds.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAME
The Cardinals will play the Sparklers Tuesday evening in the House league at the "Y." It was announced today. It had first been announced that no game would be played on account of graduation at senior high. The game will start at 7 o'clock. This game will start the second half of the league card.

Preliminary estimates indicate that Pennsylvania will take first rank among all states this year in the production of buckwheat. Comparisons as of October 1 show the state leading New York, nearest competitor. Pennsylvania ranked second in 1943, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

It is believed that the Yule log is a variant of the bonfire characteristic of the sun festivals, by which ancient people marked the four stages in the earth's progress around the sun.

"You can get a couple century notes with a grid team, despite your age" we informed Miz as he hustled his more than 2 cwt and six feet some inches through Washington street. "I believe I can earn 'mine' more easily than playing football" the big boy replied. "You mean you prefer working a month as a fireman to playing one game of pro football?" we quizzed. "Yes, there's such a thing as the spirit being willing but the flesh being weak," responded Miz Miz, as he confessed: "I'm too old for the young boys. I'll continue firemaning." # PROFIT TAKING AFFECTS MARKET

Some Prices Are Down Point Or More In Deluge Of Offerings This Morning

NEW YORK Jan. 15.—(INS)—Profit-taking pounded the stock market sharply lower this morning as selling attracted by the recent advance came on the trading floor in heavy volume. First hour turnover was 525,000 shares.

Prices were knocked down one to two points by a deluge of offerings which made the ticker late for several minutes in the first hour.

Among the leaders off more than a point were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Santa Fe and DuPont. N. Y. Central dumped a point to 24 1/2. Standard Oil of N. J., General Motors, Kennecott Copper and Consolidated Vultee reacted large fractions. American Car and Foundry dropped nearly two points.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(By International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—If the 1945 session of the General Assembly completes its work shortly after April 1 as demanded by Gov. Edward Martin, a large share of the briefest meeting in 98 years will go to the chief executive. In dealing with a militant Democratic minority, the 65-year-old retired Major General apparently has called upon the experience of his long army career in correctly evaluating the potentialities of the opposition. The Republicans, with only four votes more than the 105 needed to override the opposition of the 99-member bloc, are not in a position to ignore reasonable demands of the minority. Hence, Governor Martin, with his post-war recommendations and legislative recommendations hanging on a solid front, has called in the Democrats to decide what shall be non-Partisan legislation and thus speed the assembly's work.

In previous sessions, either the GOP or the Democrats had a sufficient majority to steamroller the opposition. This time however, Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenthaler, Lehigh, the fashion-plate majority floor leader, must exercise all tact at his command to prevent the actions of the GOP delegation from irritating the minority.

A history of Pennsylvania counties aimed primarily at heightening students' interest in their state is being compiled by the commerce department.

The document, entitled "My Pennsylvania," will be pictorial and will include information concerning industries, governmental official population and historical background, according to Gov. Edward Martin.

"They will be distributed to libraries, but the main thing is that one will be placed in each school house," the governor said.
